

New Gender Diversity and Transgender Health modules

We are pleased to present two new CPD modules which have been added to our CPD website.

The Gender Diversity and Transgender Health modules have been developed by Dr Sophie Quinney, a GP with a special interest in trans health.

Gender Diversity

This interactive module, based on typical case studies that might present to a GP, will update you on the roots of gender diversity, current terminology and language, and relevant aspects of best practice and the law.

Learning objectives

At the end of this module you will have:

1. An improved understanding of gender diversity
2. An improved awareness of current terminology and language
3. The skills to provide an affirmative consultation with patients
4. An understanding of the legal considerations regarding gender reassignment and recognition

This module was written by Dr Sophie Quinney, a GP with a special interest in trans health with contributions from Jenny-Anne Bishop and Ben Vincent.

Transgender Health

This interactive module, based on typical cases that might present to a GP, will update you on the health considerations pertaining to trans and non-binary people, including gender affirming hormone regimes, sexual and reproductive health, and screening.

Learning objectives

At the end of this module you will have:

1. An improved understanding of medical and surgical transition
2. A better awareness of the sexual/reproductive health needs of trans people
3. The skills to consult confidently around hormone regimes
4. An insight into the challenges of ageing as a trans person

This module was written by Dr Sophie Quinney, a GP with a special interest in trans health, with contributions from Jenny-Anne Bishop and Ben Vincent.

Modiwlau Newydd Amrywiaeth Rhyw ac Iechyd Trawsryweddol

Rydym yn falch o gyflwyno dau fodiwl Datblygiad Proffesiynol Parhaus newydd sydd wedi'u hychwanegu at ein gwefan.

Mae'r modiwlau Amrywiaeth Rhyw ac Iechyd Trawsryweddol wedi cael eu datblygu gan Dr Sophie Quinney, Meddyg Teulu sydd â diddordeb arbennig mewn iechyd traws.

Gender Diversity

This interactive module, based on typical case studies that might present to a GP, will update you on the roots of gender diversity, current terminology and language, and relevant aspects of best practice and the law.

Learning objectives

At the end of this module you will have:

1. An improved understanding of gender diversity
2. An improved awareness of current terminology and language
3. The skills to provide an affirmative consultation with patients
4. An understanding of the legal considerations regarding gender reassignment and recognition

This module was written by Dr Sophie Quinney, a GP with a special interest in trans health with contributions from Jenny-Anne Bishop and Ben Vincent.

Transgender Health

This interactive module, based on typical cases that might present to a GP, will update you on the health considerations pertaining to trans and non-binary people, including gender affirming hormone regimes, sexual and reproductive health, and screening.

Learning objectives

At the end of this module you will have:

1. An improved understanding of medical and surgical transition
2. A better awareness of the sexual/reproductive health needs of trans people
3. The skills to consult confidently around hormone regimes
4. An insight into the challenges of ageing as a trans person

This module was written by Dr Sophie Quinney, a GP with a special interest in trans health, with contributions from Jenny-Anne Bishop and Ben Vincent.

